2 aug 2012 when you have to unlink a file you need to have write permission w for the directory where the file exists not just for the file itself

30 dec 2024 not sure whether this is a question as mine is awkward probably it is but by the time you connect git within visual studio code that login details are remembered forever apparently the unlink call probably returns false because the output is 11 and not 111 so my gut says it must be a file permissions issue are you sure the web user has permission to remove the file can you

18 sep 2014 2 run by task scheduler using a different user account a python script on windows and try to delete a file by using os unlink but got error 5 access is denied exception
