this book brings together interviews with some of the most distinguished psychologists at the beginning of the 21st century on a world wide level it is a reflection about the future of psychology that presents the concepts ideas reflections doubts dreams and desires of the leaders of psychology at the dawn of the third millennium participants are 48 renowned psychologists including former presidents of the American Psychological Association (APA) and former and current presidents of the International Union of Psychological Science (IUPSYS) from 24 countries: Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Canada, China, Czech Republic, Colombia, Cuba, England, France, Germany, Mexico, the Netherlands, Nigeria, Philippines, Poland, Russia, Singapore, South Africa, Spain, Sweden, Turkey, the United States, and Venezuela. The future of psychology: some of the most distinguished psychologists of the world reflect about the future of their discipline. This will be of interest to both researchers and practitioners from all subfields of psychology who are interested in learning what are the most important challenges and opportunities to psychological research and practice in the 21st century.

This fully updated and refreshed 9th edition places social, economic, and political forces of change alongside psychology's internal theoretical and empirical arguments. It utilizes a critical lens to illuminate the way in which the external world has shaped the development of psychology and in turn how psychology from antiquity to modernity has shaped society. The text approaches the material from an integrative rather than wholly linear perspective, carefully examining how issues in psychology reflect and affect concepts that lie outside the field of psychology's technical concerns as a science and profession. Key features of this edition include a newly reconsidered structure including five additional interludes exploring historical background, narratives, and the rise of modernity to allow for flexible and adaptable textbook use; expanded exploration of the two psychologies: the way of ideas driven by epistemology and unique to Europe, and the way of human nature, a universal concern to find a science of human behavior and its management, including scientific, applied, and professional psychology, as well as coverage of the social sciences and social policy implications. This book is appropriate for high-level undergraduate and graduate students.

Edited by high-caliber experts and contributed to by quality researchers and practitioners in psychology and related fields, includes over 500 topical entries. Each entry features suggested readings and extensive cross-referencing accessible to students and general readers. Edited by two outstanding scholars and clinicians.

Includes a review of the successes and failures of psychology's first century from top scientists and professionals worldwide.
