in cities around the world digital technologies are utilized to manage city services and infrastructures to govern urban life to solve urban issues and to drive local and regional economies while smart city advocates are keen to promote the benefits of smart urbanism increased efficiency sustainability resilience competitiveness safety and security critics point to the negative effects such as the production of technocratic governance the corporatization of urban services technological lock ins privacy harms and vulnerability to cyberattack this book through a range of international case studies suggests social political and practical interventions that would enable more equitable and just smart cities reaping the benefits of smart city initiatives while minimizing some of their perils included are case studies from ireland the united states of america colombia the netherlands singapore india and the united kingdom these chapters discuss a range of issues including political economy citizenship standards testbedding urban regeneration ethics surveillance privacy and cybersecurity this book will be of interest to urban policymakers as well as researchers in regional studies and urban planning challenging existing assumptions about how our towns and cities are structured and formed julian hart provides an engaging and thought provoking alternative theory of urban design this is not urban design in the sense of the practice of design rather it is a theory of the form of the town at all scales why towns and cities happen to be structured the way they are as a result of the social political legal and especially economic forces that create them the shape of the city at every scale from the internal configuration of dwellings all the way up to the superstructure of the whole city can be seen to arise from the interplay between three antagonistic socio economic tensions in going about our daily business and in championing particular political objectives we collectively fashion our cities in terms of their structure and form this leads to various new ways of understanding how and why our cities so happen to be configured the way they are the book makes a step change from any other comparable studies by understanding our towns and cities in terms of function in form this helps us to appreciate why every town is a recognisable town wherever it is different urban environments in different parts of the world past and present can come to be seen according to their similarities instead of their differences furthermore by appreciating how the economic influences of everyday life structure our towns and cities we can in turn begin to understand better how the shape of towns and cities affects the quality of life of inhabitants and the cohesiveness of communities in covering all scales from inside the home to macrostructure of the city the book encapsulates urban design through to town planning and does not seek to distinguish between the various design disciplines as a continuation of identity of cities and city of identities this book covers the arguments around the memory experience cognition nexus concerning palimpsests and urban places as cities experience transitional phases of growth development decline and decay the author urges considering the notion of urban memory in place making strategies and design decision making processes these explorations would add value to primary fields of architecture architectural history cognitive science human geography and urbanism divided into eight chapters this book puts together a comprehensive knowledge of urban memory in city transitions by studying urban memory the author delves into conceptions of mental mapping knowledge of environments cognition of places and the perceptual dimension of urbanism undoubtedly urban memory plays a significant part in the future movements of humanistic urbanism given the significances of scale pace and mode of city transitions globally we should remember who are the ultimate users of those living environments therefore in this book the author debates two contradictions of memory of place vs place of memory and significance of place vs place of significance each of these is believed to be a paradox of its own indicating places are significant through the systematic networks of cities memories are meaningful through the neural information processing and place memories are the essence of urban identities the book s ultimate goal is to demonstrate the effectiveness of the space time frame of place in making memorable places through the comprehensive explorations of many global examples we can evaluate the significance of place in mind more carefully this is narrated based on the recognition of nostalgia in cities socio temporal qualities in places and the network of processes in our minds in return the aim is to provide new knowledge to make memorable cities enhance social experiences and capture and value the significance of place in mind
