this is the first book to connect the concepts of active learning and deep learning and to delineate theory and practice through collaboration between scholars in higher education from three countries japan the united states and sweden as well as different subject areas education psychology learning science teacher training dentistry and business it is only since the beginning of the twenty first century that active learning has become key to the shift from teaching to learning in japanese higher education however active learning in japan as in many other countries is just an umbrella term for teaching methods that promote students active participation such as group work discussions presentations and so on what is needed for students is not just active learning but deep active learning deep learning focuses on content and quality of learning whereas active learning especially in japan focuses on methods of learning deep active learning is placed at the intersection of active learning and deep learning referring to learning that engages students with the world as an object of learning while interacting with others and helps the students connect what they are learning with their previous knowledge and experiences as well as their future lives what curricula pedagogies assessments and learning environments facilitate such deep active learning this book attempts to respond to that question by linking theory with practice in an examination of the implications and effects of the competency testing movement on the discipline of english the six chapters of this book answer major questions concerning what competency in english is what is known about the assessment of competence in english and how minimal competency in english can be defined and assessed the first chapter presents an account of the origins and development of the competency testing movement while the second chapter provides a comprehensive review of the best current research and theory on the acquisition development and use of language the third chapter examines the limitations of various approaches to testing reading ability and then proposes a four part competency test composed of several test formats chapter four outlines a theory based procedure for assessing competence and chapter five explores the problems of assessing media competency the last chapter discusses the politics of minimum competency hth
