in June 2005 four US Navy SEALs left their base in Afghanistan for the Pakistani border. Their mission was to capture or kill a notorious al Qaeda leader known to be ensconced in a Taliban stronghold surrounded by a small but heavily armed force. Less than twenty-four hours later, only one of those Navy SEALs was alive. This is the story of team leader Marcus Luttrell, the sole survivor of Operation Redwing, blasted unconscious by a rocket grenade blown over a cliff but still armed and still breathing. Luttrell endured four desperate days fighting the al Qaeda assassins sent to kill him before finding an unlikely sanctuary with a Pashtun tribe who risked everything to protect him from the circling Taliban killers.

Four US Navy SEALs fought to the death against 150 armed Taliban in the Afghan mountains. Now two years later, the lone SEAL survivor pens this spellbinding first-hand account, a heartbreaking yet inspiring story of heroism, courage, and sacrifice. 8 page b/w photo insert.

Redwing was a 17-detonation atmospheric nuclear weapons test series conducted in the Marshall Islands at Eniwetok and Bikini Atolls in spring and summer 1956. This is a report of DoD personnel in Redwing with an emphasis on operations and radiological safety.

Examines the story of Operation Red Wings and Operation Whalers involving the Marines in Afghanistan in June 2005, the deaths of nineteen US military soldiers, the demise of Ahmad Shah, and the impact this incident had on the war on terror.

In response to a congressional request, GAO examined the Department of Defense's DoD Atmospheric Nuclear Weapons Testing Program to determine: 1) how many military personnel participated in the cloud sampling work between 1952 and 1962 during operations Tumbler Snapper, Redwing, and Dominic 1 and 2; the extent of their exposure to radiation; GAO found that: 1) approximately 300 Air Force personnel took part in the sampling; 2) the amount of radiation personnel received was questionable due to inadequate information; 3) at two of the test sites, ground personnel failed to wear protective breathing devices when working around the aircraft used for the sampling; and 4) the records gathered at two of the sites had high error rates. GAO also found that: 1) the methods used to measure internal exposure to radiation were inadequate since only one urine test was performed within a 24-hour period; 2) the monitoring devices installed in the cockpits showed a higher level of exposure than the devices the crews wore; and 3) individual records kept at one of the test sites showed a 6 percent error rate.

Unforgettable congressional hearings in 1978 revealed that fallout from American nuclear weapons testing in the 1950s had overexposed hundreds of soldiers and other citizens to radiation. Faith in governmental integrity was shaken, and many people have assumed that such overexposure caused great damage. Yet important questions remain, the most controversial being: did the radiation overexposure in fact cause the cancers and birth
